

FIREMAN HURT, CARS BLOCKED AT BLAZE

Two Floors of Building on East Forty-Second Street
Are Guttled.

Street cars on the Forty-fourth street cross-town line were blocked for three-quarters of an hour to-day by fire apparatus engaged in fighting a blaze on the third and fourth floors of a brick building in the rear of No. 155 and No. 157 East Forty-second street. The scene of the fire is close to Third avenue, and the work of the firemen was hindered by the difficulty of dragging lines of hose through the buildings on the street front of the lot.

Michael McNally, a fireman attached to Engine No. 21, was badly cut about the head by falling glass. A policeman sent an ambulance call to Flower Hospital, but the ambulance failed to respond, and after a delay of twenty-five minutes another call was sent to Bellevue.

Dr. Barkhorn sewed up the cuts on McNally's head. The fireman was advised to go to the hospital, but said he preferred to go home.

Henry Hoffman, an upholsterer, and Theodore Goerck, a metal worker, had shops on the third and fourth floors of the building. Their establishments were completely gutted, and the businesses on the lower floors drowned out by floods of water.

The reserves from the East Thirty-fifth street and East Forty-second street fire stations had all they could do to handle the crowds that were drawn by the fire.

IN BOHEMIA.

The hit of "The Merry-Go-Round," now playing at the Gus Edwards Music Hall, is entitled "In Bohemia With You." It will be given with next Sunday's World, words and music complete. This music is by Gus Edwards, composer of "School Days" and composer of the music of "The Merry-Go-Round." Words by Paul West.

GIRL HIT BY CAR IS LEFT IN STREET

Motorman Speeds Away, Unconscious Victim Found by Patrolman.

Rose Carney, eighteen, who lives at No. 1825 Oakley avenue, Bronx, was struck last night by a car of the Union Railway Company at White Plains road and Miami street and hurled, the police say, twenty-three feet into a ditch beside the road.

The car did not stop and the injured girl was found unconscious by a patrolman. Her injuries are internal and serious.

Glad to Have You Criticise This Wanamaker Clothing for Men

For it is by the frank criticism of our customers that Wanamaker Clothing is made better. We don't "stand pat" on our opinions. We have been at the clothing business for men for forty-seven years—'twas the cornerstone of the Wanamaker Business—and we are learning new things about it every day. And these new things go into the betterment of Wanamaker clothing as fast as we can put them there.

The result of this progressive attitude is, we honestly believe, the BEST Ready-to-wear Clothing for Men that is sold today.

Nothing but all-wool materials enter into its construction. The specifications on which it is made are the most difficult to live up to of any the manufacturers accept.

The most expert designers plan it—from a diversity of points of view comes a splendid provision, in new, correct styles, for every man's needs.

The workmanship and general appearance are those of the best custom tailoring—which implies distinctive, good style.

Prices, according to the fair Wanamaker methods, are the lowest for which equally good clothing can be bought.

This is the beginning of May—warm weather is imminent. Come today, or as soon as you can, and at least see the new styles, the handsome fabrics, in Men's Suits and Overcoats.

A Centenary Decoration Attracting Large Interest

The large window of our new building on the corner of Broadway and Ninth street contains a remarkable display of ecclesiastical relics and embroideries representative of the marvelous artistic achievements of Catholicism during the XV., XVI. and XVII. Centuries.

The most important feature of the window is an original miniature portrait of Bishop John Connolly, of New York. Bishop Connolly was the successor of the Right Rev. Luke Concanen, who was consecrated as Bishop of New York on the 24th of April, 1808. Political complications as well as illness detained the Bishop in Rome, so that he had to be replaced by an Episcopal Coadjutor in the person of Father Kohlmann. At the death of Father Kohlmann the need of a Bishop for the Diocese of New York and New Jersey was felt so strongly that the Dominican John Connolly, Prior of St. Clements, in Rome, was consecrated Bishop of New York on the 6th of November, 1814.

He arrived in New York on the ship "Sally" on the 24th of November, 1815, where he worked with the greatest success until his death, February 5th, 1825. He was buried in St. Peter's Church, in Barclay Street.

Behind the portrait of Bishop Connolly is displayed a large and beautiful pulpit of the early XVII. Century from the collection of the great Hungarian painter, Michael Munkacsy, the creator of Ecce Homo and Christ Before Pilate. The base represents the Good Shepherd and the panels St. Boniface and St. Willibrod. The pulpit is screened by the marvelous early Spanish triptych showing the life and devotion of St. Lawrence. A very remarkable XVI. century Spanish carved leather panel showing the multiplication of the bread, many beautiful ecclesiastical pictures and carvings, gorgeous Spanish and Italian chasubles, copes, and church curtains as well as reliquaries and candle-holders, adorn the window.

W. B. Reduso Corsets Admirable for Large Women

When a woman finds that she tips the scale at 142 or 150 pounds instead of the 120 or 147 which her height calls for, what is she going to do about it?

She will not go into tears and imagine that life is over as far as she is concerned. She will not sit down meekly and resign herself to the inevitable. Very few things are inevitable, unless we allow them to be. She will not experiment with risky anti-fats nor weaken her digestion by over-severe dieting.

None of these things.

If she has good sense she will brace up and attack the problem in a hopeful and scientific spirit. If overeating has been her pitfall, she finds out the proper amount of wholesome food and limits herself to that. She keeps her mind alert and exercises her body. She breathes all the pure air possible, both day and night. She selects for her dresses certain styles and colors which will not increase that miserable bulkiness.

Last—and whatever she omits it must not be this—

She Hunts Out a Corset Peculiarly Adapted to Her Figure

For the stout woman the ideal support needs to be as light as it is strong. Its construction should encourage her to keep her abdomen in and chest up.

Then, too, with the present fashions calling for slenderness, it must help to shape Madame's hips into slighter proportion, if her Spring clothes are to be truly happy in point of fit and style.

The makers of the W. B. REDUSO think they have a corset which will be just the thing. We shall be very glad to tell you all about it.

Price, $3 for either of the two models.

Woven from the native palm, in the natural greenish color, they are splendid hats for country and seashore wear. If you find them elsewhere, the price will probably be $2. Here, $1 each.

Also a lot of rough Panama Hats for Children, from the Caribbean, that are equally attractive at $1.

Saks & Company

Broadway
at 34th St.

The most striking feature of our Ready-for-Service Apparel for Men is the total absence of that "ready-to-wear" look. This remarkable claim is more remarkable in that it applies to all our productions without regard to price. Nowhere else is there a parallel for this stock of garments for men. Each component has been as distinctively tailored as if the purchaser had ordered it beforehand—and paid the extra tax customary for such a privilege.

The Saks Fabrics

Our choice of materials is invariably prompted by their exclusiveness and quiet elegance.

As an instance, we point to the handsome novelties presented this season in ready-for-service Suits, among them the new hair-line stripes in varying widths—some with invisible plaids and in all the approved colorings for Spring.

The Saks Models

Our designers follow the accepted modes only as regards certain conventional details. Beyond this their creations are distinctly original. Special attention is directed to the superior modelling of the shoulders and arms of our coats. Always slightly and shape-retaining, this season they are decidedly in advance of all previous efforts.
